

Bargello project

Using canvas and tapestry yarn, you can make a cell phone case, or a small purse, or a fob. Just keep stitching by following the bargello pattern until the piece is as big as you want it to be.

The first row of stitching is shown on the graph. Start by stitching it, counting carefully.

I used the darkest colour thread for the first row of stitching, and then the medium colour thread for the rows next to it, and then the lightest thread.

You can change yours however you want. You may wish to only make one of the segments instead of both, or you may want to add on a third one.
